Communication With Stockton, Cal., Demonstrates Success of Venture.

Communication is now being had between the wireless telegraph station at Washington park and a similar station operated by the Paulson company at Stockton, Cal., communication having been secured with that station Saturday after the entene at the Los Angeles station fell, cuting off further communication with that station. A station will now be established east of here, probably at Fort Worth. C. V. Logwood, in charge of the elec-trical department of the local station at the present time, received the first message at Stockton from Los Angeles and sent the first reply thereto. Stockton, he says, was the first sta-tion established, the next being Sacramento, 50 miles distant. As soon as the engineers had demonstrated their ability to send messages between these two points, the Los Angeles station was established and messages sent to that elty. Then the San Francisco station 400 miles away was brought into communication with the other stations.

Finally, in order to determine just how far messages could be sent overland, the Paulson company established the El Paso station. Since this station has demonstrated that wireless messages can be sent for a great distance Azteca handicap Sunday afternoon.

Weight, dead, lead weight in the saddle bags beat Jack Atkin in the Fort Worth.

"Within a short time we will instal the wireless telephene here," said Mr.

Logwood, at the wireless station Sundary. In spice of all the load he was carrying, Jack made a game try of it and looked good to beat high jump, 12-pound shot put, pulls up the second and bronze for the first, silver for five difference in the second and bronze for for third.

too slow to overtake the favorite. El Paso Horse Wins.

El Paso horse won in the first race Sunday. Sainfox, Allen Potter's filly, breezed home a winner by two lengths ahead of a field of nine in the six furlongs dash. Sainfox took the will be preferred against the boys, lead at the stretch turn and was never even challenged, going away to a splendid winning. You Win falled to win by two lengths and better.

Smith allowed Bon Ton to lay back and take Preen's pace in the second race. The Smith made a rapid fire move and shot down the stretch a winner with room to spare. Preen fought gamely all the way, but Bon Ton was too good Sunday to be beaten by this horse. The Slicker came from nowhere and finished third.

Meadow was more successful with the weight assigned her in the third race than Jack Atkin in the big handicap. Meadow was given the task of carrying 123 pounds and hauled this load home ahead of Lomond, who she picked up in the stretch and beat out. Ocean Queen was running second but challenged in the stretch and lost her place because of it. Helen Scott Senres the Pearl. Helen Scott threw an awful scare into the Oriental Pearl filly in the fifth race when she came on from the rear and was giving the Oriental Pearl person the run of her life for the money. The Pearl laid back during the first part of the race, came on strong and outgamed the field at the end but only after she had spent all of her strength and would have been beaten in another furlong. Helen Scott was best by test and should have won. Marchmont made a circus parade out of the sixth race, galloping away from the rest in the mile selling race. Bad News followed him through but could do no better than second. John Luis was third.
